CONNECTED SECURITY EXPO 2019

Holistic Security for the Connected Enterprise

What is Connected Security Expo @ ISC West?

Connected Security Expo is co-located with ISC West and is the only event that focuses on building a holistic security strategy for the connected enterprise, including looking at how physical and information security can be used together to mitigate new and emerging cyber threats in a hyper-connected world. As a part of ISC West, Connected Security Expo is a unique opportunity to gain access to physical and IT security professionals looking to view cutting-edge products and technology in both of these disciplines.

What is ISC West?

ISC West attracts 30,000+ security professionals and is the only event that brings the entire security channel together in one place. Showcasing the latest products, services, and technologies in the industry, exhibits include access control, video surveillance, disaster recovery, IT security, network security, UAVs/UGVs, wireless security, and more. ISC West is hailed the leading tradeshow in the Americas for physical security products & education and is where major brands launch their new technologies for the year.

What Are Exhibitors Saying?

"The courses and discussions were fascinating, broaching the rising concern in the Security Industry with regards to Cyber Security and best practices in a personal atmosphere that truly fostered a learning experience. Our group was able to take away not only that great experience, we were also able to evolve our approach as an Integrator to further stand apart as a leader and innovator."

– Brian Jackson,
Access Security Corp.

What Makes CSE Different?

No other event allows you to reach BOTH physical and cyber security professionals under one roof. IT Security Professionals are being challenged to work with their physical security counterparts to secure their critical data, people, physical assets, and supply chains across a more connected world. Connected Security Expo gives the IT and Physical Security buying teams a place to educate themselves on the increasing risks and make joint decisions about solutions for their needs.

What Are Exhibitors Saying?

"Connected Security @ ISC West was a great start to understanding how security is evolving. We all need to remember that a gate is no longer just a gate - it is a connected device. Merging IT and physical security must be a priority as we fully embrace the Internet of Things."

– David Munzenmaier,
Direct Energy

Who Should Exhibit:

“When we look at convergence of logical security and physical security historically the connection was never there due to different governance and device management. But, now that the technology is converging, the payoff of converging governance to a singular security posture is 10 fold in incident prevention, identification and reaction - not only seeing who physically enters your organization but logically as well. To achieve this increased level of protection, it's essential that the physical and cyber security teams work together. That's why my combined team is attending Connected Security Expo @ ISC West.”
