Retailers are looking for your solutions—here are a few things they are already doing and why your retail service solutions are so important!

- Walmart and Target are both using artificial intelligence to streamline their operations*
- Target added self-checkout and automatic cash-counting machines to hundreds of stores*
- Customers’ expectations for in-store shopping experiences have grown
  - They are interested in blended, technology-enhanced experience—not an online store which functions separately from its brick-and-mortar store
  - A Consumer View Summer 2019 study revealed 60% of shoppers think innovations, such as mobile apps and websites, make their in-store shopping experience better
